Liberal Education for the AI–Powered Workplace

A LUNCH & LEARN

WITH PAMELA TATE
ADULT LEARNING FELLOW IN RESIDENCE, SCHOOL FOR NEW LEARNING

FRIDAY, APRIL 12, 2019
12:00pm – 1:30pm
14 E. Jackson – 14th FL – Room 1451
Light refreshments will be served

Pamela J. Tate is the chief national partnerships officer for the Strada Education Network. She works with non-profits to identify funding sources and business opportunities, and to establish national partnerships designed to help adults in the U.S. who either have no college at all or some college but no degree. Prior to her transition to Strada, Tate served for 28 years as president and CEO of the Council for Adult and Experiential Learning (CAEL).

Sponsors: School for New Learning, Office of Continuing & Professional Education, Institute for Professional Development (CDM), Center for Teaching and Learning, & College of Communication

For more information please contact SNLDEANSOFFICE@DEPAUL.EDU or call 312-362-6366

In this lunch-and-learn, we will discuss workplace trends related to automation and the increasing reliance on Artificial Intelligence and the growing importance of liberal education for AI-powered workplace in which ambiguity, change and the need for critical thinking are the norm.